McKNEW'S Daily Letter.

The writer recently overheard one lady remark to another: "If your spring case came from McKnew's you can depend upon the style being right." We reproduce this because our increased business is evidence that this idea is certainly growing upon the ladies of Washington. Furthermore, it will make us all the more careful not to admit anything into our stock that we cannot vouch for being the very atest and correct style.

while last week's enormous trade made heavy inroads into the stock we do not propose to let it run down for an instant. In reply to our telegrams of last week we re-ceived this morning an entirely new shipment of the very latest "conceits" in Capes and Coats introduced this season. We have also been fortunate enough to duplicate a number of ou most stylish Capes, among them being the Black Satin Capes, trimmed with black lace. These appeared to instantly meet with popular favor. You can rest assured that if it comes from McKnew's the style will be right.

NAVAL REVIEW AT NEW YORK. Program for the Ceremonies to Be Held on the 27th. Nzw York, April 3 .- The official program for the naval review just issued by Rear Admiral Gherardi provides for the sailing of the review fleet from Hampton Roads on April 24. On the 25th the fleet will arrive in lower New York bay. On the 26th the fleet will move up to the review anchorage in the Hudson river, where small buoys numbered will mark the anchorage of each ship. The anchorage will extend from 34th street to 89th street. During the afternoon of the 26th all final arrange-ments will be completed and the last orders issued. The following named vessels will com prise the United States fleet:

Philadelphia, Cushing, Newark, Atianta, San Francisco, Bancroft, Bennington, Baltimore, Chicago, Yorktown, Charleston, Vesuvius, Concord and Miantonomoh. At 3 o'clock on the morning of the 27th all the vessels will hoist colors and "dress ship"

The President will embark on the Dolphin, anchored off 24th street, at 10:30 a.m. The fleet will join in the ceremonies with which the President is received on board the Doiphin. Soon after the President reaches the ship the Dolphin will get under way, firing a signal gun as she trips her aucher, steam on mid-way between the two columns of the fleet and anchor just above the fleet. The Dolphin's signal will be repeated by the Miantonomoh, using one of her ten-inch guns. At the signal the fleet will go to quarters or call all hands in readiness to salute the President as he passes.

The yards or rail of the fleet will be manned together, following the motions of the Mianto-romoh, the latter manning when the Dolphin is within 300 yards of her. Ships with yards will send their men aloft, keeping them in at the slings. As soon as all hands are called men on the review and guarded by patrol steamers.

No unauthorized vessels will be allowed No unauthorized vessels will be allowed within these waters after 9 a.m., except such as are at that hour moored in slips or alongside wharves. has been caused by the announcement. When the bank examiner went over the items did not balance and immediately began a more thorough examination. The examiner subsequently called Mr. Shaw's attention to the irregularities, and after several evasive answers finally obtained a confession of the cashier's wrong doing.

The deputy United States marshal arrived today was about the Metropolitan railroad and Saturday and placed Mr. Shaw under arrest.

Capt. Charles Patten, one of Shaw's bondsmen, was placed in charge of the bank and a thorough examination is being made.
A shortage of about $12,000 now appears the cash account and it is supposed that there is upward of $40.000 more, temporarily covered up by changing sums to the credit of depositors, the exact amount not being yet known.

The bondsmen are John O. Shaw John O. Patten, Capt. Charles Patten and Capt. Chas.

Morse,
Mr. Shaw owns quite an amount of real estate, which has been attached. It is supposed that speculation dating back a considerable time is responsible for his downfall.

Mr. Shaw has been one of the most prom inent men in the place and was supposed to be a paragon of integrity. He has been the can-didate of the prohibitionists for senator and other responsible positions. He has been re-leased on bail.

Secretary Herbert has found that a considerable number of naval officers of different ranks are absent from the named today. There is no fear on the part of his friends, though, that Mr. Eckels will not make a good controller.

J. J. WILLIE.

Mr. J. J. Willie, nominated to be deputy fifth auditor of the treasury, is a prominent citizen of the state of Florida and resides at Monticello, where he was, at one time, the judge of the county contt. He has also been a member of the state legislature and is a man of high standing among the people of his state. Mr. Willie has been a clerk in the interstate commerce commission for some time and was promoted to

The Indian service is likely to come in for investigation, it is said. Not that it is claimed that there is evidence of anything wrong, but the Indian service has grown to immense pro-portions, and a tightening up of some loose screws is thought to be feasible.

Plans for the New Gunboats. The bureau of construction is engaged in preparing plans for the new gunboats authorized by the last Congress. One of these vessels, it is thought, will be constructed especially for duty on the Chinese station. The river paring plans for the new gunboats authorized duty on the Chinese station. The river work to be done on this station requires a light draft vessel, and the bureau is making a study of the Chinese waters with a view to perfecting a craft that will in all details be suitable for them. A sidewheel vessel has been recommended, and among the plans submitted to Secretary Herbert will be one for a vessel of this kind. The work of the ship on this staor having her bottom composite will be pre-sented to the Secretary.
